Evidentia Genealogical Proof Report
for the Birth of Thompson, David (ca 1757)

Summary of Findings
The current working hypothesis is that David Thompson was born between Nov 21, 1755 and Nov 20, 1756, possibly in Salisbury, MA.

The census data between 1790 and 1840 provides at best a range of possible birth dates. (The 1800 US Census Records for Gilmanton, Strafford County, NH are among a set of missing township records for Strafford County.) The most reliable source appears to be the pension application information, which is likely to have been provided by David himself. However that data is a transcript of original records appearing in a magazine. The calculated date on the age on the pension provide a date range as narrow as the pension information is less reliable. Taking the intersection of latest start date and the earliest end date with the two narrowest date ranges, we end up with a range between July and November of 1756. However a broader range of Nov 21, 1755 and Nov 20, 1756 cannot be ruled out.

Conflicting this range seems reasonable, if not conclusive. I present it as a current working hypothesis and better source data can be found.

Primary Research Findings
The 1790 US Census - Gilmanton, NH - David Thompson⁽¹⁾ asserts that in 1790 the census for David Thompson included one male over 16. The source reviewed was a clear copy of an original record. It is unknown whether the information being reviewed is primary (meaning we must assume the informant was not a knowledgeable eyewitness or participant in the event). The evidence supporting the claim is considered Indirect (meaning the evidence is implied, circumstantial or fails to answer the whole question).

Since David is previously identified as the head of household, and this entry represents the
